

PRESS RELEASE

Luc Mallol strengthens the team for the Alpine Skiing World Championships Courchevel Méribel 2023 as CFO

The Courchevel Méribel 2023 Alpine Skiing World Championships Organizing committee has just welcomed in its team an Administrative and Financial Director. Luc Mallol will be responsible for the administrative, financial and human resources management within the OC.

A specialist in financial management and general administration, Luc has always worked in the local public sector, communities and other public establishments. His choice of missions have been guided by the energy he could bring to the service of regional and public development in general. The arrival of Luc Mallol as a CFO coincides with a transition in a new operational phase for the Organizing Committee. In the 2 coming years, commitments made to public and private partners will be materialized, with an obligation to achieve results for the OC. Luc's expertise as well as his background will be an additional asset, if necessary, to justify the proper use of the resources that have been entrusted.

"I am extremely proud to have been able to join the 2023 adventure, and it's team of enthusiasts. Being able to combine your professional activity, your passion for sport and your commitment to the service of our territory is a rare opportunity, a happiness that I intend to savor every day for the next two years".
